To Whomsoever It May Concern,

I am delighted to write this letter of recommendation on behalf of BG Foundation to recognize and appreciate the outstanding contributions of Miss Amara Jain, who has been working with us for the past 2 years. BG Foundation is a non-profit organisation that endeavours to rehabilitate children from urban slums in Gurgaon and provide them with opportunity to learn and train through established learning centers and then mainstream them to the formal education system to continue their education.

As Amara's supervisor, I had the privilege of witnessing Amara's remarkable journey firsthand. My first impression of Amara was of a calm, collected individual with a sharp focus, curiosity, patience, and persuasiveness. From her initial cold calls to diligent follow-ups, Amara exhibited a level of determination and professionalism that is truly commendable.

Delving deep into understanding how to align her initiatives with our foundations ongoing work, Amara has showcased her ability to create synergies and drive meaningful impact. What is particularly noteworthy is Amara's commitment to sustainability, one that transcends traditional boundaries. Not only did she excel in creating sustainable products, but she also actively involved marginalized women from local communities, providing them with income-generating opportunities through packaging and crafting select items. Her business acumen and leadership skills, evident even at the tender age of 16 years, are indicative of a promising future.

In addition to her work in sustainability, Amara has shown a deep dedication to philanthropy, particularly in the areas of education and community engagement. She generously shared her musical expertise with underprivileged students, utilizing it as a tool for learning and empowerment. These musical moments have been transformative for those involved, showcasing Amara's ability to make a meaningful difference through innovative approaches. Additionally, Amara personally organized a Christmas celebration event, distributing warm clothing sourced from community donations, spreading cheer among 100+ children, and fostering a sense of community spirit.

One of Amara's notable achievements was orchestrating a heart-warming event where she distributed sustainable sweatshirts and hoodies to 35 students of Stears NGO in Kashmir, in collaboration with BG Foundation. This initiative not only raised awareness about environmental conservation through upcycling but also brought warmth and joy to those in need during the festive season, embodying the spirit of generosity and compassion.

Amara's actions speak volumes about her dedication to making a real difference in communities. Her support for disadvantaged students demonstrates her unwavering commitment and resourcefulness in creating opportunities for others. Aligned with the BG Foundation's mission, Amara embodies a passion for education and skill development, paving the way for a brighter future for those she touches.

Amara is a fine individual with strong values. Her dedication, leadership, and creativity will continue to drive positive change, inspiring others to follow in her footsteps. I am positive that Amara Jain will be a valuable addition to your esteemed institution and will achieve great things in the years to come. I wish her the very best on her journey ahead and wholeheartedly recommend her to your university.

Sincerely,

Priyanka Sharma
