To Whomsoever It May Concern

It is with great pleasure that I pen this recommendation letter for Amara Jain, a grade 12 student at the Shri Ram School, Moulisari, Gurugram. As General Manager - Operations of the SNS Foundation, I worked closely with Amara since December 2023 and am impressed with her leadership in spearheading sustainable practices that have benefited not just us, but the community at large.

Amara's role in conceptualizing and building the brand CLO_SER, with a holistic focus on sustainability, is truly commendable. Her initiative of repurposing leftover fabrics from factories to design and create garments, home décor products etc. that embodies the essence of sustainability. As of February 2024, her efforts have led to the conservation of 10.45 tons of fabric and 4047.37 meters of material, making a significant impact on environmental sustainability.

Her inclusive approach involves women from local communities in the production and packaging process, effectively implementing principles of the circular economy and ensuring mutual benefits. What sets Amara apart is her commitment to reinvest profits of over INR 550,000 into the community. Through her project and collaboration with our organisation, she has successfully trained and upskilled 200 girls and women, providing them with valuable skills in stitching and tailoring and empowering them to become economically independent and self-reliant.

Amara's ability to translate vision into reality is exceptional, and her dedication to making a tangible difference in environmental sustainability and social empowerment is truly inspiring. Her work with the SNS Foundation exemplifies an inclusive approach to engaging women from local communities, paving the way for a more sustainable and empowered society through a model emphasising economic and continuous skill development.

I highly recommend Amara Jain for her outstanding efforts and achievements in sustainability and empowerment. Her project's success is a testament to her vision, dedication, and commitment to creating positive change in the world.

Sincerely,
